MIKE DETILLER

Mike Detillier is the editor and publisher of Mike Detillier's NFL Draft Report. Since 1985, Mike has done scouting and research on the top college football players available for the annual pro draft. For the past two decades, Mike has been the college and pro football analyst for WWL 870 AM Radio in New Orleans. He reports on all areas of the college and pro football world and co-hosts the popular Monday Night Second Guess Show. Mike was first teamed up with legendary New Orleans sportscaster Buddy Diliberto and now co-hosts the show with former New Orleans Saints quarterback Bobby Hebert. He also has been part of the New Orleans Saints Sunday morning pregame show for the network.

Mike noted the outstanding changes that have been made over the past year in our bayou area – the wellness center, NSU progress, Coach Orgeron at LSU. Predictions for the coming year for LSU – Double Digit wins. He gave a little insight on her friend Coach O - He acknowledged that Coach O was not the first choice for the job, but he definitely is the right fit for the job. He has faith that Coach O will completely dedicated to the position. The Saints won't be quite as lucky. They are a "football team stuck in neutral." As always, Mike entertained the group with stories, anecdotes, and Q/A.

CLUB 85
GEORGE STACK

George Stack, native of Clinton, Oklahoma, was our most recent Club 85 speaker. George was the President of Rotary in 2006 and is a PH. George informed us he was born in the year Franklin Roosevelt was President and pennies were made of steel not copper (1943). George graduated high school and had a memorable freshmen year in college before joining the Navy. George's "around the world cruise" landed him in Japan, Hong Kong, the Philippines, and lastly Vietnam. George returned to college to attain his BS and MA degrees, all while working at Eno State School providing recreational opportunities to people with disabilities – a job that would later mold his professional career. He vacationed in New Orleans for his 30th birthday, where he met his current wife, Mrs. Cathy, on a blind double date. On their third date, they went coon hunting and he proposed. That was the beginning of their wonderful 43 year marriage. George moved to NOLA and worked for the State of Louisiana for 10 years where he drafted licensing standards and assisted in opening community homes, one of which was in Thibodaux, LA. He was contacted when there was an opening at Lafourche Arc. He was named the Executive Director of Lafourche Arc, a position from which he retired from in 2010. George has two sons Nathan and Micah Stack. His retirement has included a lot of traveling. George is an active board member for Lafourche Arc.
